?????? ghost_of_debian, have you tried disabling compiz? johnjacobjingerh: how do i do that? ghost_of_debian, go to a terminal and type metacity --replace The_Doc, you can also edit the file manually (but i guess the easiest way is using the ubuntu startup disk creator any idea what i can do to reinstall my grub? dc5ala: ohhhh okay. I will try that. I am currently at my friends house. I will look at the website later. thanks. johnjacobjingerh: that only sets the window manager, i want the wobbly windows and awn dc5ala: Now I am at the computer at my home. I am going to try the startup disc creator. thanks ghost_of_debian, System/Preferences/Appearance/Visual Effects set that to None i can only boot from disk. then i have to open terminal and start it as root. The_Doctor, np, good luck, i'm out of ideas johnjacobjingerh: that changes the visual effects on the gnome desktop ghost_of_debian, the command i gave you actually changes the window manager to metacity you can change the compositing manager to a composite manager that doesnt have wobbly windows or awn metacity can support it johnjacobjingerh: that's not what i want i dont want wobbly windows and awn what exactly do you want? i want to use the default window manager im not using the gnome desktop you mean like kde? f3e1b3768c
