The Java Application Programming Interface, or Java API, is a programming interface in Java for access to application functionality, mainly through use of an object-oriented scripting language. It is specified and published by the Java Community Process as JSR-223. It is free of royalties for individuals and non-profit organizations, and is open source under the GPL license. In the early years of AutoCAD, the programming language was ADML (Automatic Data Macro Language). With the advent of Autodesk's development of Visual LISP, a much more dynamic language was written and maintained, called VBScript. In addition to the VBScript API, a C++ class library was developed. This library, called ObjectARX, has been used in various products extending the AutoCAD functionality to specific fields creating products such as AutoCAD Architecture, AutoCAD Electrical, AutoCAD Civil 3D and third-party AutoCAD-based application. In 2001, the VBScript and ObjectARX APIs were merged. Today the programming language is Javascript. The API for VBScript and ObjectARX have been deprecated. The JavaScript programming language is a dynamic, object-oriented programming language. It is an interpreted, client-side scripting language that is executed in the web browser. JavaScript is used with HTML to create interactive web pages. Microsoft Office integrated object recognition (OIR) is a Microsoft Office invention. It is technology that enables OCR technology to identify objects automatically on a digital image. The technology was originally developed for Microsoft Office products. In 2007, it was brought to AutoCAD as standard and can be accessed via the OIR button on the AutoCAD toolbar, in the ribbon, in the keyboard shortcut Ctrl+Shift+O or from the command line. Advanced Feature Recognition (AFR) is a technology introduced in AutoCAD 2009. It enables the user to identify and tag objects in a drawing file based on certain properties that are defined by AFR. AFR can identify and tag objects based on name, description, properties, and other properties. Current versions of AutoCAD (2020) have an AFR that can be accessed through the Add & Share command, the ribbon, and the command line. There are currently five (5) AFR objects that can be applied: SubCategory, SubSubCategory, Tag, Line, and Model. In addition to the 5b5f913d15

Shyama Seetharamaiah's son crosses the'must have won' line! Siddaramaiah's son K.G.Seetharamaiah, a candidate of the BJP, has crossed the'must have won' line for the Bellary seat. Although K.G.Seetharamaiah is the son of former Chief Minister and senior Congress leader Shri Siddaramaiah, he is contesting as a BJP candidate. In fact, it is his first attempt in politics, as he quit college after completing his graduation and is now contesting as a BJP candidate. Even though the BJP has fielded two candidates in the Bellary constituency, it is unlikely that Siddaramaiah's son will make it to the Rajya Sabha. K.G.Seetharamaiah has a stiff competition in the contest from the rival parties, as he is contesting from the Bellary constituency which is considered a Congress stronghold. K.G.Seetharamaiah's elevation to the Rajya Sabha has been a cause of joy to many Congress workers in the state. Even the Congress's organization in Karnataka has supported him in this endeavour. Though the Congress ruled Karnataka for 25 years after the merger of the Janatha Party and the Jana Sangh, the main opposition party in the state, it has not been able to wrest the seat from the BJP in the recent past. Having a senior Congress leader contesting from the state is not a new thing. Former Chief Minister and senior Congress leader SM Krishna contested from the Srikakulam constituency in 1996. The seat was bagged by former BJP leader and Union Minister Yashwant Sinha. K.G.Seetharamaiah would contest the General Elections from the Bijapur constituency of Chikkamagaluru, which is being represented by former MP and senior Congress leader Ramesh Jigajinagi in the Rajya Sabha. K.G.Seetharamaiah's father,
