Now I would like to use the same table as a temporary table (and not all of these SQLite tables). So I thought of creating an external table with the help of CREATE TABLE (e.g. [dbo].[asdf]) and then choose the first table that is different in name than 'asdf'. The problem with this approach is that an external table needs some space to store its data in, and I would like to avoid this in my temporary tables. Is there a better way to create a temporary table with an (global) existing table than to create an 'alias' of it (or a full table of it, which I also do not want). Thank you in advance. A: You can use UNION ALL to create a temporary table whose contents come from one or more other existing tables: SELECT * INTO t1 FROM a AS A WHERE A.a=5 UNION ALL SELECT * INTO t2 FROM b AS B WHERE B.b=7 UNION ALL ... Or, you can create a permanent table then use a dynamic SQL query to insert into that. Q: Proving a complex question involving power It is said to be true and must be proven using proof by contradiction. $\exists x \exists m \forall n \forall C: \forall n \forall C: n^m \leq 1$ As far as I have proved, this statement is false, and d0c515b9f4
